

“No message on a bumper-strip will change minds.” Well... yes and no. Does a “Support Our Troops” yellow ribbon change any minds? The message itself does not – but the wide distribution of that logo powerfully demonstrates conservative solidarity. A quick story: In the last week before the 2004 election, after months of hard work to defeat Bush, I was driving my convertible through a conservative suburb and stopped short in the middle of an intersection. Looking in all four directions I was stunned to realize that every house as far as the eye could see was flying the American flag overhanging the sidewalk. Every house! That’s when I knew we were going to lose. These people had solidarity, and they had the pride to display their values. Now...

Picture half-a-million Dead Elephants popping-up everywhere, almost overnight. That event will send an unmistakable signal to our conservative brethren - that millions of Americans are sick of what they have done to our country, and that we’re going to kick them out of power!

So, this is not just a bumper-strip – this is a campaign! To succeed YOU MUST SPREAD THE WORD!
